

NEW OFFICE IN SHANGHAI

SIBUR has opened a new office – SIBUR International Trading in Shanghai, China.

The new offices of SIBUR International Trading are located on the 74th floor of the Shanghai World Financial Centre, one of the tallest buildings in Shanghai, which is home to the world's leading companies, such as Google, Ernst & Young, Morgan Stanley, Reliance, and many more.

THE MOVE WAS MAINLY DRIVEN BY AN ALMOST 2X GROWTH OF THE COMPANY'S HEADCOUNT.

“The move was mainly driven by an almost 2x growth of the Company's headcount as was required by our ambitious investment projects,” said Andrey Frolov, CEO of SIBUR International GmbH. “The launch of polymer production in Russia and rubber production in India multiplies our customer base and sales volumes in China and Southeast Asia. We have also established a new production support division in Shanghai, which brings us, just like the sales team, closer to our key Asian suppliers of equipment and chemical products.”

Today, the Shanghai office employs 28 people, including sales managers, sales support specialists, professionals in logistics and finance, and production support managers. The new office has three convenient meetings rooms for talks with clients (one of the main requirements during the design process), with a reception featuring a waiting area for visitors, where they can learn more about SIBUR's products.
